2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. A collection of reviews to restore your faith in humanity. By AlGIt's difficult to know what made Roger Ebert's simple prose the premier exemplar of movie criticism in the U.S. But he is indisputably that. His reviews are often literature, marked by a very decent human being behind them. The same thing might be said about his several collections, with titles "I hated your movie". Because what he hated about certain movies was their break with the basic contract that creators have with their audience. What the "I hated..." reviews have in addition is his humor and sense of irony, not needed in this collection of reviews. His absence is a loss for all us if he was, like he was for me, the reviewer I turned to first. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A must read for movie goers

By Book DenI have seen most of the movies Roger Ebert reviews in this book. I agree with his insights regarding those movies. Now I have new movies to watch because I want to see all the movies he discusses that I haven't seen yet. His reviews are clear and intelligent with a great deal of humor. If you love movies, do yourself a favor and read this book. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Roger Ebert is an Excellent Writer and Has Chosen Wonderful Movies
By Kindle CustomerAt last! A well-written review of GOOD movies.

Wondering if the world is really going to hell in a handbasket? Then consider Roger Ebert's e-book original 33 Movies to Restore Your Faith in Humanity. Read Roger's full-length reviews of movies and rekindle your belief in the human spirit. From the out-of-the-world experience of E.T. to the outer space drama of Apollo 13 to the personal insights into ordinary people in Cinema Paradiso and Everlasting Moments, you'll be reassured that maybe there is hope for us all. Mix in historical dramas like The Bridge on the River Kwai and Gandhi, stories of personal heroism like Hotel Rwanda and Schindler's List, and the irresistible Up, and things will be looking, well, up!
