Chris Thompson : Albion before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Albion:

God bless this country, God bless karaokeand God save the QueenItrsquo;s Saturday night at The Albion, a proper

East End boozer and the unofficial home of the English Protection Army. Get your names in early: it's karaoke night and it's gonna be big. Little brother Jayson's out front smashing it on the mic but behind the scenes the leadership of the EPA is falling apart. Paul knows the public won't listen to a bunch of hooligans but his deputy Kyle wants a fight. Christin's sure that the key to success is in the company you keep and the language you speak. This is England and it's time to take it back. This explosive new play examines the turbulent rise of the new far right in modern-day Britain. When they embrace diversity, just how far can the far right go?

About the Author Chris Thompson is a recipient of the Channel 4 Playwrights Scheme Bursary (formerly the Pearson Playwright Award). In 2013 he took part in the Kudos / Bush Initiative and the Royal Court invitation studio writers' group. Chris is the Channel 4 Playwright in Residence at the Finborough Theatre, where his acclaimed debut play Carthage had a sold-out run early in 2014.
