Kay Adshead : Animal (Oberon Modern Plays) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Animal (Oberon Modern Plays):

At the heart of a London Park there is a beautiful house. Inside, the raging Pongo has volunteered for an anger management drug trial. But isnrsquo;t anger vital to our humanity? Set in a mythical England against ongoing war and civil insurrection, Animal is a dark and funny tale of humanityrsquo;s struggle for progress. In this millennium, will we choose to be Animals or Angels? Animal opened at The Soho Theatre and New Writing Centre, London, on 4th September 2003 before embarking on a National tour.
